

Josh & Katy

We believe every child's story begins with a hero, and to us, you are that hero. The decision you are considering for your child is rooted in a profound love and courage that we deeply admire.

Adoption is woven into the very fabric of our family, with sisters, cousins, and even a parent who joined our family through adoption. This has taught us what matters most, and it leads to our most important promise: Your child will always know their story begins with you and your incredible act of love.

You will always be an honored part of this story. We want to share your child's life with you through pictures, letters, and visits, and your comfort level with how open our relationship is will always guide our communication. The life they share with us will be built on a foundation of unconditional love, our Christian faith, a great education, and the joy that comes from a graceful heart and a strong work ethic.

As you look through these pages, we hope you can picture your child at the center of our family's story, living a life full of love, opportunities and happiness.

With love,

Josh & Katy

Our story

didn't start with a lightning bolt, but more like a quiet spark. We met briefly at a film festival, but a year later, fate brought us back together while we were both working on the set of a local TV show.

Josh asked for Katy's number, and from that moment on, we've been an inseparable team. Now, after thirteen years together and eleven as husband and wife, we've built a beautiful life, learned to support each other through every challenge, and filled our home with laughter and happy memories.

Our journey, guided by prayer and deep conversation, led us to a beautiful and certain truth: we feel a clear and joyful calling to grow our family through adoption. This is the path we are meant to be on. We have so much love, stability, and joy to give, and our hearts are open and ready for our next great adventure: welcoming a child into our home.

Katy

I could write about how Katy is a talented, classically trained musician, or how she's an amazing professional who can handle any project. But what I find most incredible (and what I think is most important for you to know) is how her caring nature shines brightest when she is with children. As the oldest sister in a big family, she has plenty of practical experience with babies and kids, but it's so much more than that. It's a true intuition. She just gets them. When I watch her with our nieces, nephews, and goddaughter, I see her completely in her element—so patient, effortlessly playful, and absolutely full of love. People often say "she is my rock," but that phrase isn't nearly big enough. Katy is the steady, loving center of my world, holding our life together with her strength and grace

Josh

Throughout our relationship, Josh has been an incredibly supportive, patient, and loving partner. He faces challenges with strength and perseverance, always approaching life's changes with a calm, steady presence. He is a natural leader, blending practicality with creativity, and friends often seek out his thoughtful advice when making big decisions like career changes. Children and animals are naturally drawn to him. Our cat, Bowtie, adores him—she follows him from room to room and proudly brings him her favorite toy so he'll play with her. Watching Josh with our nieces and nephews is truly heartwarming. From painting nutcrackers with our goddaughter at Christmas, building Lego creations on the living room floor, or cuddling up on the couch to read a story, he has a way of making kids feel loved, safe, and special.

Making Memories

Our home is a warm and creative space where individual passions are encouraged and shared. From the happy notes of Katy's euphonium (a small tuba) to the magic of storytelling from Josh's work as a filmmaker.

We love balancing big adventures, like hiking in national parks, enjoying amusement parks, or traveling to a world wonder with simple, cozy moments. Many evenings find us cooking a meal together, taking a walk through our neighborhood, or relaxing with a good book or movie.

Family get-togethers are frequent and fun. From afternoons spent swimming and grooming horses at Katy's parents' farm to cheering at a baseball game with Josh's family. These are the traditions that make up our life, and we cannot wait to share them, and create many new ones.

Careers

Together, our careers provide a wonderful blend of stability, creativity, and flexibility.

Josh is an Emmy-winning video producer, a career that feels like getting to "play" every day.

Katy is a freelance digital content manager, a creative role chosen for the flexibility it offers our family.

Pets

Louie

BowTie

Our home has been shared with dogs, cats, and even a chinchilla! Today, our two gentle indoor cats Bowtie and Louie fill our home with a sweet, cozy energy as they cuddle on the couch, chase a toy, or watch the birds.

Our home

Our Home

Our comfortable and spacious home is in a friendly, multiracial neighborhood where children often play outside, and it features a large backyard with a deck for hosting, space for games, and a vegetable garden. Our location offers the best of both worlds, walkable to local shops yet close to city/country adventures and is part of a supportive community with terrific schools, providing a strong foundation for a bright future.

Our Family

We are blessed with a large, loving community of family and friends who are the foundation of our life, providing constant support and joy. Adoption is a beautiful and personal part of this story on both sides. Josh's own life is a direct result of his father's adoption. A legacy of love that began with his biological grandmother's courageous choice. This theme continues on Katy's side, as two of her nine siblings and some cousins were also welcomed into the family through adoption.

Our parents are overjoyed to become doting grandparents and live nearby, and our lives are filled with the laughter of get togethers with all our siblings, our many nieces and nephews, and a close knit circle of lifelong friends.

Katy, Age 3

We are truly humbled to be considered and hope these pages have painted a clear picture of the life we are ready to provide: one full of laughter and adventure, grounded in our faith, a great education and wrapped in the constant love of family and friends.

This decision rests entirely with you, and we deeply admire your courage and strength. Please know that if you choose us, we will spend our lives honoring that trust. Your child will always know the story of your incredible love for them, and you will always be spoken of with the respect and honor you deserve.

With hope,
Josh & Katy
